

Amanda Nicole Corbin is a writer in Salt Lake City, Utah. She teaches sixth grade English and originally hails from Columbus, Ohio. She has had her short fiction published in the Notre Dame Review, NANO Fiction, Columbia College Literary Review, Thrice Fiction, Superstition Review, Thin Air, The Vehicle, decomP, and others. She has been a prose editor for Ellipsis Literary Magazine and edited her own zine, Pure Coincidence, as well. She is always looking for new projects and ways to incorporate Ohio State football into the literary world.