

Anthony Opal lives in Chicago, where he is a graduate student at Northwestern University. His poems have appeared in various magazines and journals, most recently The Spoon River Poetry Review, New Madrid, and Zone 3, and are forthcoming in Boston Review, Notre Dame Review, and Salamander. He has served as associate poetry editor for River Oak Review, and is currently a reader and for TriQuarterly Online. He lives with his wife, Laurel.